BRIGHT HOUSE NETWORKS CONTINUES TO LAUNCH NEW HIGH DEFINITION (HD) CHANNELS ACROSS ALL OF ITS MARKETS

One out of two Bright House Networks Digital Video customers takes high definition as content continues to grow Bakersfield, California—July 1, 2008 – Bright House Networks announced that company-wide one out of two of its Digital Video customers now enjoys Bright House Networks HD's offerings. Most of the six Bright House Networks divisions have recently announced additions to their HD programming and channel line-up. Bright House Networks will add more channels and hundreds of hours of programming throughout this year. New HD channels include a wide variety of products that range from movies to lifestyle and family viewing. While launch dates, channel locations and specific channel additions vary from market-to-market, Bright House Networks continues to honor its pledge to add new HD product across all of its geographical locations.

"The number of our customers who receive HD programming has grown by a company-wide average of 40 percent in the last 12 months. One in every two digital video homes serviced by Bright House Networks now enjoys HD programming, which is perhaps one of the strongest HD adoption rates in the country. We are pleased to be able to rapidly enrich HD programming across all six of our divisions. Our enthusiastic consumer demand is met with a wide variety of HD programming." Bright House Networks Corporate Executive Vice President of Cable Operations, Kevin Hyman, said.

“Our customers here in Kern County are thrilled at our newly launched HD channels. We have recently launched KVPT (PBS), FOX HD and National Geographic in HD. It is clear, as evidenced by our HD customer growth in the last 12 months, that our customers are making our HD video product a primary entertainment focus,” Joe Schoenstein, President of Bright House Networks Bakersfield Division said.

In addition, all Bright House Networks HD customers have access to nearly 100 hit movies in HD anytime through the HD Movies-On-Demand service available on channel 79 with 24-hour rental fees starting at $4.99. Given the popularity of Bright House Networks HD On Demand services, the company is working to double the number of HD movies and shows available on-demand by the end of the year. Premium HD services from HBO and Showtime are also available to subscribers of those services at no additional charge.

“Customers are intent on viewing programming on their own time. Many of our Digital Video customers also take our DVR service that enables the consumer to time-shift programming so that it fits in with their active lifestyle. Bright House Networks households also have access to hundreds of hours of new HD programming along with hundreds more on HD Video-on-Demand (VOD) services. This offers the best of both worlds – a high quality viewing experience – on your own time,” Hyman said.

Bright House Networks HD services are made possible by the company’s robust, bi-directional, hybrid fiber-coaxial (HFC) network architecture. This network, created by cable television engineers, was deployed to provide seamless delivery of new products to the public as advanced services and products became available. It has enabled the delivery of the voice, video and data products that the company has made available across the country.

“We are extremely well-situated in Bakersfield. We can seamlessly add new programming networks, product and functionality without having to dig up yards or disrupt customers. We have recently expanded our call center hours and our local technicians can also visit customer’s homes (free-of-charge) to assist customers with new products and services,” Schoenstein said.

“As the number of HD programming services continues to expand, Bright House Networks is continuing to invest in its infrastructure to ensure our customers have access to quality HD programming well into the future. While HD is important now, we know that there will be additional enticing products available in the future. We are poised to easily offer a wide array of services," Hyman said.
